Heatstroke 100

Hot and humid in August? You bet! But Nebraska cyclists have endured the heat and pedaled in scorching sun time and time again. What better way to beat the heat than to ride in the Heatstroke 100 ——— if you dare!

The ride starts at the Strategic Air and Space Museum, next to Mahoney State Park near Ashland. We have several ride distances from 25 to 100 miles (a “century”). The route is on paved roads except about 1/4 mile of limestone trail on each side of the Lied Bridge. The limestone surface is suitable for road bikes.

For those cyclists who want an even hotter ride we will provide hot peppers and spicy hot sausages. We will even provide blankets for those afraid they might catch a chill.

For the saner cyclists (wimps) there will be the usual fruit, water and cookies at the SAGs.

This is not a race (unless that’s how you’re wired) so feel free to ride any of the above distances at any pace that you find comfortable. All ages may participate, however riders under 18 years old must ride with a parent or guardian.

The ride begins at 7:30 a.m.

NO RAIN DATES, NO REFUNDS

The 100 mile route consists of three different loops in the Platte River valley and surrounding area. We will cross the Platte River using the beautiful Lied Platte River Bridge. This bridge is an abandoned Rock Island Railroad bridge rehabbed with concrete surfaces. The ride has scenic vistas and rolling hills.

Several SAG support stations will be provided and roving SAG vehicles will patrol to provide assistance and pick up cyclists in need of a ride back to the starting point.
